Today, we are given to see Jesus conjuring images of unstoppable fire and worms into a place we have to avoid by all means: into hell, where the worms that eat them never die, and the fire never goes out. It is a vivid description of the state a person may attain when their life has not carried them where they wanted to go. It could be compared to the moment when, while driving our car, we take the wrong road by thinking it is the right one, and we end up in an unknown place, not knowing where we are and where we did not certainly want to go. We have to avoid it, no matter how, even if we have to get rid of some apparently unalienable things: without hands, without feet, without eyes. We have to have the strong desire to enter into the Kingdom of God even if we have to go without an essential part of ourselves.

It is possible that this Gospel may incite us to mull over something we may have, very dear to us, but that prevents us from seeing God, —or even worse— that pushes us away from God. The same Jesus leads us to look for the sin responsible for all our failings (hands, feet and eyes). Jesus speaks about anyone that could cause one of these little ones who believe in Him to stumble and sin. “To cause someone to sin” is to turn someone away from God. We, therefore, appraise in every person his nearness to Jesus, the faith he may have. Jesus teaches us we do not have to belong to the Twelve or to be one of his most intimate disciples to be able to stay beside Him: For whoever is not against us is for us. We can understand that Jesus saves all. It is a lesson of today’s Gospel: many are those who, because of their deeds, are closer to the Kingdom of God than we may think...As St. Thérèse of Lisieux admitted: “The Lord cannot reward me for my deeds...Thus, I hope He will reward me for His”.

Climate Change

As you will have noticed, not only on the last few months newsletters, but also on the news...the evidence is undisputable, the latest report from the UN warns us that if we don't take action now, the damage to the earth, our common home, will be irreversible. Many believe now to be the world's best last chance to get runaway climate change under control.

At a Global Level...

The UK will host the 26th UN Climate Change Conference (COP26) in Glasgow from 31 October to 12 November 2021. 'COP' means 'conference of parties'. Leaders from 197 countries, including Pope Francis, who have signed up to the UN's climate change treaty, will travel to Glasgow to take part in the conference. If you wish to add your name to the petition please go to: thecatholicpetition.org and follow the links there.

At a local level...

In July we told you about Justine Silcock from the Archdiocese who along with the help of Clare Wakefield a parishioner at All Saints was trying to engage with our local MP James Grundy to discuss Climate and Sustainability. They have now set a meeting with James which is on 1st October. If anyone would like to be involved in this meeting, please contact the parish office and we will pass your details to Justine.

Tuesday 28th September, 3.00pm at All Saints Church

We will be celebrating a special service to reflect upon Pope Francis' encyclical, Laudate Si, pray for the coming COP26 climate conference and think about what we can do to contribute towards reducing global warming. Do come and join us.

As we enter the 5th week of the Season of Creation, we are invited to give thanks to God for the gift of creation and the fruits of the earth which sustain us. Many churches and schools do this through Harvest Festivals – bringing the fruits of the earth and the work of human hands and sharing these offerings with those in need.
